Preface

When Issac Newton, the first commissioner of agriculture, outlined the program for a new Department of Agriculture in 1862, he placed near the top of his list the establishment of an agricultural library. It was his belief that "the most vaulable work would gradually accumulate by exchange, gift, and purchase, forming a rich mine of knowledge." Since that time, the National Agricultural Library (NAL) has assembled a collection of over 1,800,000 volumes, inclusive of historic and/or rare imprints.

The National Agricultural Library's special collections area is comprised of original manuscripts, archival materials, rare books, early periodicals, pamphlets, photographs, works of art, audiovisual materials, microforms and a variety of ephemeral material which because of physical characteristics, age, value, content, or appearance, have been judged rare or requires special custodial or environmental care. The Library's special collections program staff welcomes the opportunity to receive, preserve, and make available these special materials.

In particular NAL acquires agriculturally related information in microforms when not available in ususal paper forms or when economics or service considerations make this the most feasible approach to disseminating information. The following List of over 4,000 Microfilms is part of the Library's effort to provide accurate and convenient access. This list is organized in two parts: Part I, arranged by Film Number; Part II, Author and Title arranged alphabetically. Film and reader printers are located in room 301-A. Duplication of NAL owned microfilm is $10.00 a reel.
